DEVELOPMENTS IN EUROPE

Paris reports bombardment by the Germans of the important town of Pont-a-Mousson, in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle.

The Austrian ambassador is preparing for his immediate departure from London. A London dispatch says war between Great Britain and Austria is to be declared.

The German army is advancing into the heart of Belgium. The forces which have been investing Liege have moved to the north and a new army corps has taken their place.

Brussels reports that the French and British allied forces are concentrated at various important points in Belgium and are prepared to check the German advance.

From Berlin German successes are announced at Muelhausen and Lagarde, with the taking of many French prisoners and the clearing of German territory of the French.

Fighting continues around Tirlemont and other Belgian towns and the struggle for the possession of the Liege forts has recommenced.

London, Aug. 13.—A dispatch from Rome repeats a telegram from the frontier saying that an Austrian cavalry brigade has been exterminated on the Austro-Russian frontier.

Another Rome dispatch tells of a message from Basel, Switzerland, that two German infantry regiments were annihilated during the battle with the French troops at Muelhausen.

The Austrian cavalrymen are said to have attacked the Cossacks, who were accompanied by artillery. They were unable to hold their own and tried to get back across the frontier, but rain had fallen and men and horses were caught in the marshy ground and shot down until not a man remained alive.

The German regiments mentioned are the Eighth Baden infantry regiment No. 169, which was stationed at Lehi in Baden, and the Fourth Prince William's Baden infantry regiment No. 112, stationed at Muelhausen.

The commander of the Twenty-ninth division attached to the Fourteenth army corps, whose headquarters were at Freiburg, is said to have been killed.

IMMENSE ARMY IS AT METZ

Force Threatens to Attack Brussels or Invade France.

London, Aug. 13.—The Telegraph's military correspondent at Paris says several German army corps are assembled around Metz and extend in the form of a triangle from Metz to Treves and Luxembourg, while a still stronger force is stretched across Belgium Luxembourg and Manur province.

"The German right flank," the correspondent says, "rests on Meuse near Huy. Three army corps with supporting cavalry are established on the left flank. This army threatens to attack Brussels or invade France in the direction of Mons, in the Belgian province of Hainaut."

CANADIAN RECRUITING ENDS

Large Number of Volunteers Enlist for European War.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 13.—The number of volunteers enlisted for service in the contingent to be sent from Canada to the war is so large the 25,000 men required can be picked from any three of the nine military divisions in the Dominion.

This was announced by Colonel Samuel Hughes, minister of militia. Recruiting for the contingent has closed all over the country. Commanding officers of the different regiments are busy preparing their lists to rush them to the militia department here.

Germans Repulsed With Loss.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12. (via London).—An attempt by the Germans to occupy Eyduhnen, East Prussia, one point to which Russian troops were dispatched early in the war, has failed. The Germans, consisting of a detachment of infantry and artillery, were repulsed with loss.

GERMAN DIPLOMATS APPROACH BELGIUM

Said to Be Trying to Reach an Understanding.

London, Aug. 13.—The Daily Mail says it learns that on Monday, after the fruitless assault by the Germans on the Liege forts, the German government again approached Belgium through Holland as intermediary, pointing out that Germany had no quarrel with Belgium and no desire to be at war with her, and asked the Belgian government to reconsider its refusal to permit the German army to traverse Belgium to save useless expenditure in blood and treasure.

The Belgian government, according to the newspaper, made reply, again refusing the German request.

The Daily Mail says it understands Turkey had assured the British government that the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which now are in the Dardanelles, will be disarmed, but that there is reason to believe Turkey has purchased and intends to put the two cruisers in commission.

ENGLAND KNOWS PLACE OF GERMANY'S TROOPS.

London, Aug. 13.—The official press bulletin of the war office says:

"Of the German forces the bulk has been located and it is evident that the mass of German troops is concentrated between Liege and Luxembourg."

"The number of German troops known to be on the western side of that country proves that in the eastern theater of war, the Russo-German frontier, so far as Germany is concerned, is comparatively lightly guarded, unless by reservists."

CANNOT ASSIST AMERICANS

Committee Unable to Send Money to Germany.

London, Aug. 13.—The war has made futile the plans of the American relief committee to send a delegation to Germany under the lead of John H. Finley, commissioner of education of New York, to relieve distressed Americans there.

After a consultation with Ambassador Walter Hines Page, the committee temporarily abandoned its plans.

Mr. Page is unable to send money to Germany, but he has received assurances through the American minister at The Hague that the cases of distress among Americans in Germany have been much exaggerated.

Another 1,000 French officers and men were taken prisoners by the Germans in the fight near Longwy.

German soil is now entirely cleared of French troops and the much heralded French advance into Germany has failed.

BELGIANS CLAIM TO CHECK ADVANCE

Special to The Dispatch:

Brussels, August 13, (1:15 P. M.)—It has been officially announced this afternoon that the German advance toward Namur was checked by the Belgian-French forces. The war office claims the German losses to have been enormous. The Belgians claim to have captured several of the latest machine guns mounted on automobile trucks.

EFFECT FELT IN NORTHWEST

Foodstuffs Are Advancing in Price Almost Hourly.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—The war in Europe is making itself felt with increasing force in St. Paul.

Foodstuffs are advancing in price almost hourly and the cost of thousands of other necessities and luxuries is increasing with leaps and bounds.

Imported goods particularly are advancing in price, with prospects of exhausting the supply in many instances. Jobbers and retailers are being informed by manufacturers and importers that importations have ceased and that all future deliveries are problematical.

Not only are imported goods affected by the situation, but the new demand for domestic products is responsible for an increase at home.

One of the items keeping the consumer guessing is sugar.

TERRITORY IS CLEARED OF FRENCH

Germans Win Battle Near Muelhausen.

PARIS STORY DIFFERS

Says Only Encounters Have Been Those of Outposts.

*****

Berlin (via London), Aug. 13.

—The German troops near Muelhausen have captured ten French officers, 500 men, four guns, ten wagons and many rifles. According to the report German territory has been cleared of the French. It is also stated that at Lagarde the German troops took more than 1,000 prisoners, about one-sixth of the two defeated French regiments.

*****

Paris, Aug. 13.—The following official announcement has been issued by the French war department:

"There have been no encounters between the German and French forces except those of outposts.

"The occupation of Muelhausen was effected by a French brigade of infantry to destroy the German intelligence center in operation in that town. That being accomplished the brigade was withdrawn, the general in command considering the position too perilous.

"The French brigade was followed by the entire Fourteenth German army corps and a division of the Fifteenth army corps, which were halted by our principal lines.

"Our strategic situation remains as before, excellent."

"The best denial that can be given to the report that the French lost 20,000 men at Altkirch," says the French war minister, "is that the total effective French troops did not reach that number."

The communication concludes: "We are placing in Upper Alsace a considerable number of troops."

CRUISERS IN THE ATLANTIC

Great Britain Sends Ships to Protect Trade Routes.

London, Aug. 13.—The admiralty has sent out cruisers which will ply the Atlantic coast to protect trade routes. The French government also has sent out warships to search for German cruisers known to be in the Atlantic.

"The enemy's ships," the official admiralty report says, "will be hunted continually and although some time may elapse before they are run down they will be kept too busy to do much mischief."

Fast merchant vessels, fitted and armed, also are keeping the routes clear of German commerce raiders. With every day that passes British control of trade routes, especially those of the Atlantic, become stronger.

FORTS STILL HOLDING OUT

Belgians Blow Up Bridges and Destroy Buildings.

Paris, Aug. 13.—It is reported that the forts around Liege are still holding out against the Germans and that the troops which defended the city have returned to the west and resumed the offensive. It is said that the Belgians have blown up bridges and destroyed the railroad in the rear of the German forces, cutting off their supplies. The bombardment of the Germans of Pont-a-Mousson, in the department of Meurthe and Moselle, about twenty miles northwest of Nancy, began. A hundred shells of large caliber fell in the town, killing or wounding a number of the inhabitants and demolishing buildings.

GOVERNMENT GUARANTEE FOR BANK OF ENGLAND.

London, Aug. 13.—To terminate the present deadlock in the money market and enable trade and commerce to resume normal courses the government has agreed to guarantee the Bank of England from any loss it may incur in discounting bills of exchange of either home or foreign banks on trade accepted prior to Aug. 4.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR.

Denies Packers Used War as Excuse to Boost Prices.

MEAT FAMINE IS PROBABLE

J. Ogden Armour Says Stock Receipts Are Light.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Receipts at the stock yards here for the last two weeks have been approaching a famine basis, according to a statement issued by J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., in which vigorous denial was made of a charge that the packers have made the European war an excuse to put up prices.

During the past two weeks Armour & Co. have killed fewer hogs than during any similar period in the history of the concern, the statement said.

"The nine Armour plants altogether have killed only 14,738 hogs last week, against 70,337 the week before the war," the statement added. "They killed only 17,512 cattle last week against 21,836 the week before the war and only 20,334 sheep last week against 46,395 the week before the war."

SAYS GERMANS LOST MUCH VALUABLE TIME

Correspondent Makes Trip Along Belgian Front.

Brussels, Aug. 13, via Paris.—On the report that operations on an extensive scale were imminent a correspondent, by permission of the war control body, made a circuit along twenty miles of the Belgian front, visiting the extreme advance and talking with the officers and men.

The Belgians are on the alert, as important bodies of German cavalry are making their way through the country above Liege, proceeding in the direction of Tongres and St. Trond.

The impression of the correspondent is that no heavy fighting is likely in Belgium, where the Germans have little or no infantry. By the opposition offered by the Belgian troops at Liege the Germans lost precious time, which was profitably employed by the French and British in concentrating masses at convenient points.

SHIP BEARING FRENCH RESERVISTS AT HAVRE.

New York, Aug. 13.—La Lorraine, which left New York for Havre last Wednesday, carrying 700 French reservists, arrived among its passengers, arrived safely in Havre, according to announcements by agents of the French line here.

ROUT GERMANS IN FIERCE FIGHT.

London, Aug. 13.—The Exchange Telegraph's Brussels correspondent, telegraphing Wednesday, says: "The Belgians have routed the Germans in a fierce encounter between the Belgian left wing and massed German cavalry, infantry and artillery. The Belgians displayed wonderful control under the fierce attack and their victory has aroused the liveliest enthusiasm along the whole line of the allied troops."

BIG FORCE TO ATTACK RUSSIA.

London, Aug. 13.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily Mail says it is reported in the newspapers there that Germany has formed twenty-five reserve divisions, each of 20,000 men, and six batteries, with thirty-one reserve cavalry regiments, which will constitute the main part of the German forces on the Russian frontier.

"The French brigade was followed by the entire Fourteenth German army corps and a division of the Fifteenth army corps, which were halted by our principal lines.

"Our strategic situation remains as before, excellent."

"The best denial that can be given to the report that the French lost 20,000 men at Altkirch," says the French war minister, "is that the total effective French troops did not reach that number."

The communication concludes: "We are placing in Upper Alsace a considerable number of troops."

CRUISERS IN THE ATLANTIC

Great Britain Sends Ships to Protect Trade Routes.

London, Aug. 13.—The admiralty has sent out cruisers which will ply the Atlantic coast to protect trade routes. The French government also has sent out warships to search for German cruisers known to be in the Atlantic.

"The enemy's ships," the official admiralty report says, "will be hunted continually and although some time may elapse before they are run down they will be kept too busy to do much mischief."

Fast merchant vessels, fitted and armed, also are keeping the routes clear of German commerce raiders. With every day that passes British control of trade routes, especially those of the Atlantic, become stronger.

FORTS STILL HOLDING OUT

Belgians Blow Up Bridges and Destroy Buildings.

Paris, Aug. 13.—It is reported that the forts around Liege are still holding out against the Germans and that the troops which defended the city have reformed to the west and resumed the offensive. It is said that the Belgians have blown up bridges and destroyed the railroad in the rear of the German forces, cutting off their supplies. The bombardment of the Germans of Pont-a-Mousson, in the department of Muerthe and Moselle, about twenty miles northwest of Nancy, began. A hundred shells of large caliber fell in the town, killing or wounding a number of the inhabitants and demolishing buildings.

Big Force to Attack Russia.

London, Aug. 13.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily Mail says it is reported in the newspapers there that Germany has formed twenty-five reserve divisions, each of 20,000 men, and six batteries, with thirty-one reserve cavalry regiments, which will constitute the main part of the German forces on the Russian frontier.

J. Ogden Armour Says Stock Receipts

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Receipts at the stock yards here for the last two weeks have been approaching a famine basis, according to a statement issued by J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., in which vigorous denial was made of a charge that the packers have made the European war an excuse to put up prices.

During the past two weeks Armour & Co. have killed fewer hogs than during any similar period in the history of the concern, the statement said.

"The nine Armour plants altogether have killed only 14,738 hogs last week, against 70,337 the week before the war," the statement added. "They killed only 17,512 cattle last week as against 21,836 the week before the war and only 20,334 sheep last week as against 46,395 the week before the war."

SAYS GERMANS LOST
MUCH VALUABLE TIMECorrespondent Makes Trip Along

*****

Brussels, Aug. 13, via Paris.—On the report that operations on an extensive scale were imminent a correspondent, by permission of the war control body, made a circuit along twenty miles of the Belgian front, visiting the extreme advance and talking with the officers and men.

The Belgians are on the alert, as important bodies of German cavalry are making their way through the country above Liege, proceeding in the direction of Tongres and St. Trond.

The impression of the correspondent is that no heavy fighting is likely in Belgium, where the Germans have little or no infantry. By the opposition offered by the Belgian troops at Liege the Germans lost precious time, which was profitably employed by the French and British in concentrating masses at convenient points.

Rout Germans in Fierce Fight.

London, Aug. 13.—The Exchange Telegraph's Brussels correspondent, telegraphing Wednesday, says: "The Belgians have routed the Germans in a fierce encounter between the Belgian left wing and massed German cavalry, infantry and artillery. The Belgians displayed wonderful control under the fierce attack and their victory has aroused the liveliest enthusiasm along the whole line of the allied troops."

FIGHTING
AT LIEGEGermans Reopen Assault on Forts.

CHANGE THEIR TACTICS

Kaiser's Forces May Try to Cross River Meuse.

Brussels, Aug. 13. (via London).—The fight for the possession of the Liege forts has recommenced. The Germans erected a bridge at Lixhe for the transport of troops and heavy material and it is possible that simultaneously an attempt will be made to cross the river Meuse in front of Liege, for convoys have been sighted proceeding toward Engis.

The German advance is being regarded greatly by the Liege fortifications, as they dominate the routes taken by the Germans and also the intervals between the forts, thereby preventing the passage of artillery and transport wagons.

The Germans appear to be commencing a fresh phase of the war. Their attack through Central Belgium having failed they are entrenching along their Maestricht-Liege front and are employing a number of peasants on the road south through the provinces of Liege and Luxembourg, foreshadowing an attempt to force their way to the south of the River Ourthe and towards the upper Meuse in France.

The German cavalry which on Monday and Tuesday spread itself out over a front extending from St. Trond to Hannut, at the same time sending detachments in the direction of Tirimont, Hougaerde and Jodoigne, has fallen back except at one point, where it is keeping in contact with the Belgians.

A fight of importance occurred near Tirimont, where 1,000 German cavalry, with quick firing guns mounted on horses, attacked a regiment of Belgian lancers. The latter retired owing to inferiority numerically.

The Belgians lost two officers and a small number of men in killed and wounded.

The Germans are erecting fortifications in the streets of Liege with a view to resisting a possible Belgian attack on the right flank.

Baron van Zuluende de Iyvelt was shot by a sentry while racing in an automobile along the Namur-Liege road. He died later from his wounds. The soldiers who accompanied him were shot and killed.

A regiment of dragons coming from the direction of Liege and who attempted to surprise the Belgians at Aineffe, in the province of Liege, were driven off, leaving 153 dead and 103 prisoners.

Uhlans have taken upward of $400,000 from the bank at Hasselt, capital of the province of Limburg.

Amsterdam, Aug. 13.—The second attempt of the German army to build a pontoon bridge at Herstal over the Meuse was successful, according to a dispatch from Maestricht to the Telegraaf. The bridge is intended for the passage of siege artillery, several pieces of which are being sent to Liege and others to Namur.

Wanted a Time Fixed.
They had a Colorado day here in Washington some time ago, and Congressman Taylor got a little time in which to talk about it in the house. As a part of his speech he recited a little poem entitled "Come to Colorado," at the close of which Jim Mann remarked, "Say when."
"At the first opportunity when this congress adjourns," replied Taylor.
"That is a long time in the future," was the comment of Mann.
Somewhat Irritated.
Senators show some irritation on account of the long drawn out debates which have taken place in the senate, but for the most part there is better feeling than can be expected after a year and a half of continuous sessions. Hayling found methods by which they can force legislation to a conclusion, the majority, when it is determined, makes the senators stay and insists upon the debates finally ending and a vote being taken.

See Good Fighting.
A great many Progressives, it is said, are of the opinion that there is good fighting for Progressive principles in the Republican ranks, and quite a number of them would be perfectly willing to return to their old affiliations if they could find good terminal facilities. But it is rather difficult when men are candidates for office and the field is crowded with other candidates to get in with an old party nomination. Hence it is that, even if the Progressives desire to return, there is not a good opportunity for them to join in the movement.
Starved and Stunted.
John Sharp Williams has a grievance. He is not a large man, although all members of his family are six footers. "You starved and stunted my growth by your war," said the Mississippi senator in one of his outbursts against the war now going on in Europe. He asserted that the inflictions of war fell upon those who were not responsible for the war.
Dogs and Mculems.
Dogs in Mohammedan countries have even more freedom than with us, not because Mohammedans love them more, but because it is impious to kill or molest an animal, however mean, that Allah lets live. U. S. TO DEVELOP MERCHANT MARINE
Need of Transportation Facilities Exemplified by War.
MAY BUILD BIG FREIGHTERS
Movement in Congress Favors Use of Battleship Appropriations in Buying Vessels to Carry Exports and Passengers—Naval Colliers May Be Used to Transport Cotton.
By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—It is quite possible that the United States will build its own merchant marine or form a basis for restoring the flag of the United States to the seas.
The Weeks bill, which was passed some time ago under the exigencies of European war conditions, is the entering wedge for the government to proceed upon the ocean carrying business. Under it vessels of the navy could be used to carry mails and freight, when necessary, to South America and Europe.
The secretary of the navy intimates that some of the big colliers of the navy can be used to transport cotton and wheat to foreign lands during the time that foreign vessels cannot be used in the Atlantic trade.
May Go Much Further.
Then there is the possibility that the matter may go much further. It is already intimated that an effort will be made to cut off one of the battleships at the next session of congress and provide for some big carrying vessels with the money that would be used for a battleship. At least five freighters of the class that are used for auxiliaries of the navy can be built for the money spent for one battleship, and under the Weeks bill they would be offered by graduates of the Naval academy and manned by enlisted men of the navy. The whole idea seems to be that part of the battleship appropriations is to be used to build up the merchant marine.
For the Bulls and Bears.
The house had passed the emergency currency amendment, which was vigorously opposed by Vic Murdock because he considered it a benefit to Wall street and he thought the United States should not go to the rescue of those people. Immediately after a bill came up relating to the transportation of immature calves.
"The bulls and bears having been taken care of, I suppose something will be done for the calves," interjected Murdock.
Delegates in Foreign Lands.
A bill was up in the senate providing that the United States be represented by delegates at some foreign science meeting.
"I suppose those delegates will get to the conference by wireless," jocularly remarked Senator Brandegee of Connecticut. "In view of the conditions which exist on the continent to travel."
Then Senator Gallinger took opportunity to criticize the lack of a merchant marine. He said that our secretary of state went to South America on a battleship because there were no suitable lines between this country and that continent. He supposed that we would send the delegates to this coming conference on a battleship if they got there at all.

WORK IS PLENTIFUL THERE

Charles Rosenkranz Reports Remarkable Trip Made with a Ford Car, 500 Miles without Mishap

Charles Rosenkranz, Lewis Albert and Miss Ruth Albert have returned from a trip in the Dakotas, having been at Hankinson, N. D. and White Rock, S. D.

Mr. Alberts purchased several lots in the town of Victor, S. D., on the Fairmont & Vebelin railway, a farmers' line newly completed.

The harvest is nearly finished and threshing has started. W. C. Rosenkranz owns a big threshing rig and was one of the first in the field in Richmond county this season. The crops are very good with the exception of blue stem wheat which is quite badly damaged by rust. W. C. Rosenkranz expects to have 50 days threshing. Wages are from $2.50 to $7 per day and board, the latter being for machine men. Any man wanting work will have no trouble finding it in the Dakotas this fall.

The trip to the Dakotas and back was made in Mr. Albert's Ford car, 500 miles being covered without a break or a puncture, the whole distance being made on just 26 gallons of gasoline.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Absence of Quorum at Advisory Board Meeting Causes Check in Activity

At the meeting last night of the Chamber of Commerce nothing of importance was done. Mr. Haggard called attention to the fact that it took fifteen members out of a membership of over 300 to make a quorum for the general meeting of the organization while it took over half of the advisory board to make a quorum, making it almost impossible for the advisory board to meet in special session or regular at this time of the year when so many were out to the lake, etc. There have been no quorum of the advisory board on Tuesday evening, no business was transacted, and as a consequence nothing was brought up or accomplished last evening.

G. D. LaBar brought up the matter regarding the county and township taking care of the poor.

Woman Lives 125 Years

Mrs. Dutkiewitz, a resident of Posen, a city in Polish Germany, held the old age record. According to documents in her possession she was born February 21, 1785, and is now over 125 years old. But now a Bulgarian woman, Baba Vasilka, claims to be ten months Mrs. Dutkiewitz's senior. The record of her birth gives the date as May, 1784. She is now living on the farm where she was born and where she worked in the fields for over 100 years. Her only "child," a son, aged ninety-nine, still tills the soil and does the chores. One wonders how they lived without "Zumalweiss" beer. J. O. Nelson, Tel. 179-J—Advt.

CELEBRATE REQUIEM HIGH MASS

Knights of Columbus, Hibernians and Eagles Attend in Bodies the Last Services

The funeral services over the remains of Robert E. Clark were held in St. Francis Catholic church at 9 o'clock this morning. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney. A full choir sang. Every pew in the church was taken and many stood in the aisles. The attendance was notable because of the large number of members of the Knights of Columbus, Hibernians and Eagles who attended.

The pall bearers were Neil O'Brien, John Cummins, James Alderman, George Trent, Jr., John Krekelberg and Dr. H. E. Murphy.

Stores throughout the city, as a mark of respect, were generally closed during the hours of the funeral.

MANY DRILLS AT WORK AT BARROWS

New Concrete Shaft of Barrows Mining Company to be in Section 16 Near by

THE ROAD WORK NEAR BARROWS

New School in Woodland Park Addition, Construction is to Start Very Soon

Barrows, Minn., August 13—C. P. Meyers, of Duluth, secretary of the Barrows Mining company was in town the latter part of the week looking after some of their properties.

John Wahl was in town Saturday and with him were Nathan Jacobs, Lucie Averse and Dominick Gusue of Erie, Pa., who looked over the town and went out to visit the drills on the different mining properties.

The Seafeld Exploration company has a drill working on the Barrows Mining company property in section 16, where the new concrete shaft is to be located, and another drill in section 9, opposite the new Woodland Park addition to Barrows, the latter drill being on the property of the Barrows-Mississippi Iron Co. If the Barrows-Mississippi Iron Co. finds ore on their properties, it will make a good showing for the Woodland Park addition.

The township will commence work on the road between sections 15 and 16 within a few days. This will be the main road to the large farming country east and south of Barrows.

The state road is now graded and they are placing the rock foundation for cinders this week. When completed this will add another mile of good road to Barrows.

What is needed in Barrows is a good, live grocery store with a first class stock. Now is considered a good time to locate before the new mines open up and get acquainted with the people as they come in.

H. A. Peterson is out in the farming country getting signatures for a rural free delivery service. He reports that the farmers think favorably of the idea and are freely signing the petition.

The school board has decided to build the new school in Woodland Park addition, but have had orders to wait a few days to see if they could not get state aid and in that way be able to reduce the cost of the building to the district.

Markus Grande is hauling coal for the drills.

The drills east of the superintendent's bungalow at the Barrows mine have commenced on their second hole.

An automobile accident took place Tuesday morning just north of the home of S. R. Lougee when Mr. Hogue of Merrifield and Walter Musolf ran their cars together while going with good speed. Owing to the tall timber and a turn in the road they were unable to see ahead. The cars were badly damaged and taken to the Lougee home for repairs. The men escaped injury, but Miss Lyndon, in the Musolf car was quite badly cut by flying glass.

Begin Now to Live.

After a long stern chase I am convinced that the ingredients of happiness are very few and simple. The trouble with most of us is that we think we want too many things and so miss our true aim in the effort to obtain them. It is better to put beauty in your life than money in your purse. Glit edged stocks will not compensate you for the poverty of the mind. A city mansion and a country house, the seductions of society and the vain pursuit of the unneeded bag will not make up to you for a dearth of soul life. Cut out the superfluities—and begin to live.—Michael Monahan in "At the Sign of the Van."

FAIRS ARE IMPROVING

New Grandstand Built at the Crow Wing County Fair Grounds in Pequot—Many Premiums

In a report on county fairs published by the State Fair Association it is stated that the wise and liberal step taken by the last legislature in its offer of assistance to the county fair movement in Minnesota has commenced to bear fruit. The county fairs in every part of the state appear to be stronger than at any other time.

In its report on the Crow Wing county fair this statement is made: The Crow Wing county fair, September 16 to 18, according to Secretary F. G. Schrader, is offering more premiums this year than in any previous one. The plan is to make it a big local agricultural exposition. The fair is practically out of debt. Moving pictures, baseball, and horse racing will feature the amusement program. A sum of $400 has been appropriated by the county for a county exhibit at the state fair.

A Question of Value

It Involves the Subject Love

By IDA SPEED

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Given two men and a woman you'll most always have a romance; two women and one man are apt to produce a riot, but take two women and two men, all in love, and every one of 'em bein' a misfit, as you might say, and it's like a two ring circus—you can't possibly take in all the details.

When this here Miss Daphne Donaldson first throws in with the west it's with no notion except to forget past unpleasantnesses which, I learn afterward, was caused by her havin' Pullman tastes and her husband havin' a day coach pocketbook.

Course, in order to win her he puts up a bigger front than his bank account calls for, and when he can't live up to the premises she pleads nonsupport and requests her maiden name.

So when we first see her she's got both the divorce and said maiden name and has new west to escape the gossip and scandal ensuin' from the same.

It took a special trip to freight her trunks out to the ranch, and she had clothes that made the men set up and take notice and the women's eyes turn green with envy.

She shore has the heart broke look, and she ain't been here a week before I see plain that Johnny Duval is goin' to be first aid to the injured.

You see, the biggest part of this ranch is owned by a man back east named Stoner, who was her confidential adviser, and he tells her just to come and make herself at home here till such time as she feels like facin' the world again.

Now, Mary Talbert, whose folks have charge of this outfit, is one of them quiet, practical girls who only know one way to love—that's with a secret, consumin' passion.

Secret, that is only to the object of it, and consumin' all her time in thinkin' about it. The object of Mary's devotion was Johnny Duval.

That such is bad enough.

But about three weeks after Miss Daphne arrives Mr. Talbert gets a letter from this Stoner sayin' he can't come out to look after some matters as he does once each year, but is sendin' a substitute who will make a new contract with Talbert and attend to all business for him.

I drive in to meet this duck, whose name is Smithson, and I find a tall, slim fellow dressed like them pictures in the back of the magazine where it says:

"If you want to feel at ease in any society, wear"—etc., and who can ask more questions than a jackleg lawyer?

When we reach the house Daphne and Mary are on the east gallery. I make 'em acquainted with Mr. Smithson.

Daphne is standin' foolin' with a chain she always wears around her neck with some kind of a little hoodoo on the end of it.

"How do you do?" she says, noddin' her head, indifferent. Then she turns with a rattle of silk and walks in the house.

"Glad to meet you," says Mary, holdin' out her hand. "Have you all had your dinner?"

When we say we haven't she gets up, smoothin' out her fresh gingham dress, and goes in to set dinner out.

That was the difference between 'em. In a week's time Mr. Smithson looks like he's forgot he was sent here for any purpose but to make love to Mary, who is real nice to him to keep from showin' how she hates to see Johnny and Daphne together so much.

But, listen, that's not the worst.

What does the grass widow do but begin to build a stack at this here Smithson, who don't seem to notice it, he's that took up with Mary Talbert.

It was like singin' "Three Blind Mice." They all fell in with the same words to the same tune, but only produced a jumble in the end.

I watch 'em pretty close and observe more or less human nacher in all of 'em.

From the very first I know why Mary is treatin' Smithson so nice, but it takes a long time for me to glean that Johnny is playin' the same game with Daphne because he don't think Mary cares for him.

I figured that this Daphne didn't take to western ways and folks, and it wasn't so much Smithson as them back east garments of his'n that was holdin' her spellbound.

And it took this here Smithson just a month to do what Stoner usually attends to, gittin' back by return mail.

Before he leaves we begin to work the cattle. The first day we rounded up the north Cross S, and course the women wanted to go on the drive.

Johnny Duval was on his fanciest cuttin' horse, Don, and he was showin' off the least mite, as cowboys will do with back east folks lookin' on.

Smithson was swell in his ridin' togs, with little race spurs, and his mount was a big, handsome bay, but he was powerful in the way.

About the middle of the mornin' Johnny works hard for five minutes tryin' to cut a big far headed yearlin' out of the herd, and when at last the steer takes to the bushes Smithson spurs up and turns him right back in the herd, not knowin' enough to see where the brute should go.

"Let him go," yells Johnny, and rips out four uncomplimentary words which wouldn't have sounded so bad to Smithson if the first and fourth hadn't been "you."

Daphne rides over to Smithson at once, her face plumb scarlet.

"I think," she says, dignified, "you'd better take Mary and me home."

So he takes the ladies to the ranch, and that's the last I see of 'em till that evenin', when us boys come out from the brandin' pens and the two women are on the gallery by themselves.

Johnny Duval marches right up and apologizes for losin' his patience.

Daphne shrugs her shoulders and says nothin'. But Mary looks at him with sympathy.

"It's pretty hard work to have to do twice on account of somebody's ignorance," she says.

Johnny looks at Mary, grateful.

Then Daphne boils over.

"You western men can do just one thing," she says, scornful. "You can work cattle with all the ridin' and other things that appertain. But put one of you back in civilization and you'd have to drive a dray for a livin'."

"Poor people have poor ways, but ain't that a honest way to make a livin'?" says Johnny and turns on his heel, spurs jinglin', and goes in the house.

I could see Mary was pleased plumb through.

The rest of us boys says nothin', and directly Mary goes out to a mesquite bush a few feet from the house and picks off a leaf.

She comes back to the foot of the gallery steps and says: "Somebody name this. I'm goin' to tell Miss Daphne's fortune."

Just then Smithson saunters out, and I says, "I've named it."

"Big house, little house, pigpen, kitchen," says Mary, pluckin' off a prong and throwin' it away with each "house."

"Big house, little house, pigpen, kitchen."

"Big house, little house"—

"Mr. Smithson," I says.

"You're goin' to marry Mr. Smithson and live in a little house," says Mary, lookin' at Daphne and laughin'.

"That leaf had one too many prongs, I'm afraid," says Smithson. "How about it, Miss Donaldson?"

"Love," begins Daphne, toin' with that chain of hers. "Love is like happiness and everything else—it has a relative value. It depends on who is in the 'little house'." She gits up and goes to the door; then she stops.

"The 'little houses' where love exists," she says, lookin' straight at Smithson, "are more complete than the 'big houses' that are only for show and to keep pace with the bunch."

Then she walks in the house.

"I'd about as soon mine would come out 'pigpen' if it couldn't be 'big house.' I've lived in little houses and kitchens all my days," Mary says, with a sigh.

"You'll never know the relative value till you've tried both," says Smithson to Mary. When she has gone in the house, too, he turns to me.

"Women, my friend, are alike the world over," he says, sorter bitter. "But just the same we can't do without 'em."

"No, sir," I replies emphatic.

The next day that blamed little pitchin' "baby" horse of mine turns over with me and breaks my ankle, and breakin' that leg done for me what one of these here Japanese screens they set in the corner of the stage does for the show business.

They put me to bed in the east room, which has windows openin' on the front gallery, and because an invalid is expected to go to sleep early I heard somethin' that night I never should have got on to otherwise.

The pain had got easy, and I was dozin' a little when voices waked me.

It was not light enough to see the faces, but a woman was speakin' when I commenced to listen.

"I suppose Elmer Stoner sent you out here, too?" she says.

"Yes," says the man, "but I'll swear to you I didn't know you were here until I was within five miles of the ranch."

"And then it was too late to turn back," she says.

"Not if I had known you were firtin' with a cowpuncher who is far beneath you every way. And so soon!" he adds in a hard voice.

"The cowpuncher and that little Talbert person are wrapped up in each other, so your flirtation won't do you any good," she reports.

"Oh, Harry," she goes on, "you only wanted to be rid of me!" And I hear her voice catch.

"Daphne, it's so like you, dear. You get a divorce from me, run away and hide, amuse yourself with another man and then lay the blame on me. Now, I don't mind the blame," he says.

"God knows I've been lonely without it, but I wonder if we could patch them up—our lives, you know. The little Talbert is a poor substitute for you."

I propped myself up on my elbow.

A big, round, red moon was just peepin' over the edge of the world, and a man was leanin' against a post of the gallery with his arms around a woman, whose head was down on his shoulder.

"Anyhow," she says, dabbin' at her eyes with a little white speck of a handkerchief, "there never was any one else and there never will be."

"We'll go home tomorrow," he says, soothin'.

The curtain ought to come down as they kiss, but there wasn't none, and that moon was so bright I just compromised by pullin' the sheet up over my head.

Where the Hippopotamus Lurks.

Herds of hippopotamuses are not found everywhere in central Africa. They stick to the swampy shores overgrown with the papyrus plant, which affords them cover by day when they come out to rest. At night they feed on land, sometimes walking long distances away from the lake or river in search of palatable herbs. The hippopotamus is a great eater. A cow hippopotamus stays with her calf until the young one gets strong enough to walk and swim.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Why Flowers Flash.

The strange phenomenon exhibited by some red flowers of seeming to flash in the twilight, but only when the flower comes sideways into the range of vision, is explained by Professor F. A. W. Thomas. He says twilight makes red seem brighter and green duller than in full daylight. As the image of the red flower moves from the peripheral part of the retina, where the rods are red blind, to the fovea the red is perceived more vividly than before, and this image coincides with the purkinje after image of the surroundings, giving the impression of a flash.

TRY THIS SIMPLE RECEIPT.

We all know some home remedy for our minor troubles, and by the use of these remedies many a doctor's bill is saved and doubtless many a life.

How few know what to do when their eyes become tired and ache, or feel dry and inflamed from abuse and overuse? In the morning your eyes feel rough or sticky, or they trouble you when you read. What do you do? Most of us rush off and get glasses (perhaps at some cheap store where no skill is used in fitting our eyes), which we very often do not need at all. Thousands are wearing night or unnecessary glasses which they might better discard and other thousands can, with a little care, probably so strengthen their eyes that glasses might never be necessary. Here is a free receipt that may be relied upon to give comfort and to help the eyes of some people; it is harmless and has the enthusiastic endorsement of thousands who have used it:

5 Grains Optima (1 tablet).

2 Ounces Water.

Use as an eye wash night and morning, or oftener if possible. It makes most eyes feel fine, quickly allays irritation, brightens the eyes and sharpens the vision. Many who have used it no longer feel the need of glasses; many others have ceased to fear that they will soon be obliged to wear them. Get the Optima tablets from your nearest druggist and prepare the solution at your own home.

YOU SAY YOU NEED AMMUNITION, WHY YOUR BELT IS FULL

YOU DON'T CATCH ON JUDGE, I WAS HINTING FOR SOME OF THAT REAL TOBACCO CHEW

THE SPORTSMAN GIVES THE GOOD JUDGE A POINTER

NOBODY wants to put a big, bulgywad of tobacco in his cheek.

All around you, men are using "Right-Cut"—the Real Tobacco Chew. And telling their friends about it, of course—just like you'd tell your friends about a thing that brings so much comfort.

"Right-Cut" is pure, rich, full-bodied tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

If your dealer does not sell it, send us 10c. in stamps for a pouch of "Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco.
